CONNECTIONS

2023 Fall Term | ISSUE #1 | November 13th, 2023

FROM THE DEAN

Greetings, CAS community!

We in the CAS Dean's office are happy to be reaching out to you with our CAS Connections newsletter, hoping to keep you informed and to encourage your connection to and involvement in our college community at NEIU. On a monthly basis, as a way of building our community, we'll be sending you a few highlights from among all the exciting activities in which our students, faculty, and alumni are engaged. Always please feel free to reach out to us with any news you'd like to share with the CAS community or ideas for ways you'd like to contribute to building our community.

The first update we have for you is that our Dean, Katrina Bell-Jordan, is now serving as our Interim President and Associate Dean, Sudha Srinivas, is now serving as Acting Associate Provost. While I can't fill Dr. Bell-Jordan's shoes, I've taken over as Acting Dean for the year with Acting Associate Deans Ken Voglesonger and Amanda Dykema-Engblade rounding out our team. Ken is an Associate Professor in the Earth Science program and has served previously as the Director of the Student Center for Science Engagement. Amanda is an Associate Professor in the Psychology Department, where she was serving as Department Chair before agreeing to join our team in this transition year.

We hope to carry on the good work the CAS was doing under Interim President Bell-Jordan's leadership, and we look forward to keeping you up to date on the work of the College and to having you take part in our community.

Sincerely,
Tim Libretti, Acting Dean, CAS

FACULTY HIGHLIGHT

Dr. Christopher Owen

The College of Arts and Sciences is proud to announce that Professor Christopher Owen, who chairs our Department of Music and Dance, was chosen last June to serve as the Artistic Director of Windy City Performing Arts, a performing arts company that “sings to inspire change, celebrate diversity, and honor the dignity of the LGBTQ+ community,” according to their website.

Owen sought the position because for him it was, he says, “about being able to serve the queer community of which I’m a part. To be part of an organization that puts the LGBTQ+ community in the center is a great honor.” For Owen, taking on this leadership role in our current political landscape in which members of LGBTQ+ community, particularly trans youth, are targeted for violence and told they don’t belong, was a powerful political act. As he puts it, “Every time the LGBTQ+ community sings, it’s a political act. We’re saying we are here, we’re not going anywhere, and we can create beautiful things for the world.”

Owen sees the company modeling for LGBTQ+ people, youth and trans youth in particular, that they have a right to exist and that they have much beauty to bring to the world—a vital message in a world that too often seeks to exclude or target for hostility LGBTQ+ people. The company features the Windy City Gay Choir (TTBB) for tenors and basses and the Windy City Treble Quire (SSAA) for sopranos and altos. Owen explains that the spelling “Quire” is intended to highlight the queer identity of the group, for whom intersectionality is an important element as they seek to transcend the simplistic identity categories that have historically organized, say, a men’s or women’s choir. The College is proud of Professor Owen’s community leadership.

CURRENT CAS STUDENT HIGHLIGHT

Haley ("Lily")

Farris

ANTHROPOLOGY MAJOR

What do you study at NEIU?

I am an Anthropology major.

What are your career goals?

I am pursuing a career in Archaeology.

What do you like most about NEIU?

I've been to a few different universities and so far NEIU has to be one of the best in terms of the professor's pedagogical care. They're passionate about both what they teach and their students' wellbeing, which creates a positive environment all around.

Anything else fun and interesting that we should know about you?

A few interesting things about me are that I'm a multidisciplinary artist and love working creatively with any medium I can get my hands on. I love to travel and want to live in a few different countries for a couple of years. I also really enjoy being out in nature and would eventually (when I tire of city life) like to start a homestead in my later years.

ALUMNI HIGHLIGHT

Olivia Goree (BA PSYCHOLOGY 2018)

Olivia, pictured with her children and husband (Olatunde Bisiryu BS Biology and BA Psychology 2019) on a family vacation in Hawaii.

What are you doing now?

I am currently completing an internship in Medical Social Work at Dignity Health St. Joseph Family Medicine (Phoenix, AZ)

What do you remember most about your time at NEIU?

So many memories at NEIU! The supportive staff, encouraging peers, confidence gained through knowing I always had support when needed. (I miss it)!

What is a word of advice for current students?

Continue to push forward and know that ALL things are possible. Build a support system and never be afraid to ask for help

Anything else that you think is important that we haven't asked?

I just applied to obtain a doctorate in behavioral health (fingers crossed!)
