Mrs. Berneice Zimmerman

dedication

We, the yearbook staff, dedicate the second edition of the Beehive to Mrs. Berneice Zimmerman. She exemplifies the true spirit of service, giving of her time, her knowledge, and herself to everyone who is in need of her counsel. As director of co-curricular activities, her efforts in guiding student development of leadership and citizenship are untiring. In future years the student body will look back and remember all that she has done for us.

DR. JEROME M. SACHS
Dean of the College

As Dean of the College, Dr. Sachs is required to keep the entire school plant operating as smoothly as possible. Dr. Sachs accepts all this responsibility with a smile and still finds time to aid in teaching a mathematics course, in which field he received his Doctorate from the University of Chicago.

Assistant Dean in Charge

The physical management of the college is the responsibility of Dr. McBride. He must see that all rules and regulations of the college are enforced and adhered to by everyone on campus. Although his schedule is quite busy, Dr. McBride manages to spend some time in the gym teaching physical education. Dr. McBride received his Doctorate from New York University.

deans

Development of the college program, class scheduling, and class organization are just some of the things that keep Dr. Moran busy. In spite of these and many other other administrative duties, Dr. Moran finds time to teach a mathematics course. Dr Moran received his Doctorate from the University of Illinois.

DR. CHARLES W. MORAN
Assistant Dean

DR. ROBERT J. GOLDBERG
Assistant Dean

The graduate program and its development, as well as student eligibility for receipt of their Bachelor Degrees, are two of the many responsibilities of Dr. Goldberg. He finds time to share his great knowledge of biology with the students in spite of his many tasks. Dr. Goldberg received his Doctorate from the Illinois Institute of Technology.

MISS LOUISE C. JOHNSON

The first person new students get to know when applying to C.T.C.-North is Miss Louise Johnson. She is Director of Admissions and it is she who supplies all information and application forms to interested students. Miss Johnson also arranges the personal interview for each applicant. Miss Johnson received her Masters Degree from Butler University.

administration

MISS LOUISE E. CHRISTENSEN

Probably the second most important person a new student gets to know is Miss Louise Christensen, Registrar. It is Miss Christensen who keeps the records of each student attending the college. It is also her task to organize class registration each trimester as well as handling changes and dropping of courses. Our Registrar is a truly dedicated and willing person who is able to do this three times each year. Miss Christensen received her Masters Degree from Northwestern University.

A very important point in a student's college career is the day that he goes out to student teach. The task of placing each student in a school for his trimester of student teaching has been delegated to Dr. David Rappaport, Chairman of the Division of Teacher Education. A very fine job is being done by Doctor Rappaport, who received his Doctorate from Northwestern University.

All extra-curricular activities and special events planned for the college are supervised by Mrs. Berneice Zimmerman, Director of Co-curricular Activities. Clubs receive charter information, publicize their activities, and students obtain job applications through this office. Despite her many tasks in this office, Mrs. Zimmerman still finds time to teach some education courses. She received her Masters Degree from Northwestern University.

From the Beehive one can see part of the sprawling mass of buildings and corridors that make up our college. From a lower level the human side of the school comes into view. One outstanding personality trait of CTC-N is a leaning towards music, exemplified by the constant sight or sound of someone, somewhere playing a recorder.

The two student lounges on campus are located in the center of A and B wings. Here students and faculty can gather for discussions, lectures, Dean's teas, club meetings or those last-minute cramming sessions. Lectures by prominent speakers, the Dean's teas, and the L.S.A. Penny Carnival are also held here. Through the windows can be seen small patios where students often study in warm weather.

Because the school is spread over a one block area consisting of one building, a catacomb of halls confronts and confuses the student. One unique feature of the school is the glass inclosed halls that connect the various wings. There are two hundred individual study spaces or carrels in the halls. Each carrel has a small locker and desk area, usually assigned to the student teachers. Students often congregate here and exchange the latest gossip.

The language laboratory of Chicago Teachers College-North is located in the A wing. It serves the students of Spanish, Russian, and French. The laboratory has facilities for thirty-five students at one time, each with their own earphones and controls. The language laboratory is under the supervision of Mr. Jolly and his assistants.

the science laboratories

The science laboratories at Chicago Teachers College-North are located in the B wing. Our college can be proud that we have the most advanced science laboratories in the entire city. The student aides are in charge of ordering the necessary equipment and materials and preparing for the experiments in biology, chemistry, and physical science. The laboratories have the latest equipment and enable the students to perform their experiments with the utmost accuracy.

C.T.C. boasts of five types of hexagon shaped classrooms. They are the regular classroom, the seminar room, the tiered lecture room, the laboratory, and the art room. When necessary, fold-away partitions divide the classrooms and seminar rooms so that two classes can meet at the same time.

These rooms are utilized five days a week from eight o'clock in the morning till ten at night. On Saturday, classes are held from 8 A.M. till noon.

the administration building

The single multi-story building on campus is the six floor high Administration Building, or as it is commonly called, the Beehive. The offices of the Registrar and the Bursar occupy the ground level. On the second floor are the offices of the Dean of the college and his assistants. Also on the second floor, there is the Office of Admissions.

The third floor through the sixth floor of the Administration Building contains individual offices for the faculty as well as conference rooms and secretarial centers. The secretarial centers are reserved for the student aides, which is another example of the opportunity for students to be employed while attending college.

the library

The library at Chicago Teachers College-North offers many opportunities for students to work. As a student-aid, the student is able to choose the number of hours he or she wishes to work on a salary basis.

The curriculum center of the library is in the upstairs portion. In this area are children's books, both fiction and non-fiction, and books which assist in the program of teacher training. The children's books range from the primary level to the upper elementary level.

The library at Chicago Teachers College-North, a spacious and modern four-level building, has a potential capacity of over 150,000 books and periodicals. The library is under the direction of Mr. Schneider. In addition, there are other librarians. Each librarian is in complete charge of a particular department . . Miss Levin, the reference librarian, is responsible for the cultural exhibits displayed in the library.

The adult collection that is located in the basement of the library is now categorized according to the Library of Congress System. The Dewey Decimal System is no longer efficient because it does not include all the scientific books. To completely convert to this system will require several years.

The cafeteria at Chicago Teachers College-North is one of very few of its kind. It is a model of modern efficiency. Catering to the students during the lunch hours and offering a wide choice of luncheons, the kitchen and service area boast of being one of the most complete of any school. Unlike most other schools, all the food served at CTC-N is prepared on campus. The coffee shop, which is also affiliated with the cafeteria, serves light lunches through the whole school day. The kitchen also caters to special luncheons held by various clubs and committees on campus.

The Coffee Shop in the Student Union building is a place where students gather over coffee and rolls or a sandwich and malt. Students can sit at the snack bar, where they are served, or at the surrounding tables. Directly outside of the shop are two small lounge areas with benches, public telephones and large bulletin boards where students can find pertinent information about classes and activities.

Service is the word that distinguishes the Student Union from the other areas of the school. It is here where the Interim, the college paper, and the Student Senate have their offices. The Activities office, which organizes the clubs and the on and off campus events, is also in this building. Students with spare hours between classes or after classes can gather upstairs for club meetings, card games, dancing, or for listening to records.

Miss Dorothy McCreery and the other counselors also can be found in this building. These counselors help students plan their programs of study by discussing graduation requirements, academic regulations, prerequisites, and certification requirements. In individual conferences academic difficulties are also discussed.

the physical health department

The Physical Health Department offers a great variety of courses, enabling a student to become at least casually acquainted with almost every type of sport. At present, students are offered only the four required active courses, but it is hoped that enough courses for a Physical Education Major will be added sometime in the not too distant future.

The gymnasium proper, is divided into two areas by the floor levels and, as of this year, can be divided into four areas by the new roll-up partitions. These partitions enable classes to engage in four activities at one time. Now one class may be practicing basketball while two others are tumbling and working out on the apparatus in time to the music of a Latin American dance class. The gymnasium is also the scene of intramural games: volleyball, basic basketball, free throw shooting, badminton, and trampoline. Touch football is held outside in the field just south of the school.

West of the touch football area are the tennis courts, and south of them are a new feature this year, the game courts, where both classes and intramurals may be held outside. There are four handball courts, four basketball courts, three badminton, six volleyball, and two shuffleboard courts. This huge area may serve two additional uses in the future: graduation exercises may be held outside and the courts may be flooded in winter for ice skating.

At the present there are swimming courses offered for everyone from beginners to those capable of specializing in such fields as scuba, water-polo, senior life-saving, and water-safety instruction. The equipment for these activities is kept in a storeroom opening directly onto the deck of the pool, which also has its own sundeck, just outside.

The college auditorium is used for many different activities. There are many large classes that meet in the auditorium for lectures given by various professors in each department. The chairs have been equipped with electronic buttons which are used to respond to quiz questions the instructor may wish to ask. After lectures are over, some students have questions to ask the lecturer, so they sometimes go up to the stage to pose their questions about the lecture.

The most important use of the auditorium, or the one that the students look forward to the most, is Commencement. The faculty is garbed in their robes, and the audience is filled with proud relatives and friends, as each graduate receives his degree.

There are many guest speakers that come to the college each Trimester. Sometimes the speaker has been asked to speak to a specific class, and other times the entire student body and faculty are asked to attend. The auditorium is the place where many of the speakers lecture.

The auditorium is also used as a place for enjoyment of the Arts. Each Trimester, a Concert Series is presented for the faculty and students to enjoy. Many wonderful talents have appeared here. The Stageplayers also use the stage in the auditorium to present their productions of fine plays.

The Little Theater is the scene of many gatherings throughout the day and evening. One group that meets here almost every week is the faculty. Here they gather to discuss curriculum changes, college courses, and many other matters important in educating fine teachers.

Located in the Little Theater building are the art classrooms. Throughout the day students come and go, carrying various completed and uncompleted projects. A wide variety of materials are used to give each student a broad background in art, so that he will be prepared to create an interest in art in his own classroom.

Many groups who visit the college are given a tour of the building and then may be invited to attend a lecture or view a film in the Little Theater.

An outside view of the Little Theater shows one of two sliding doors that open onto a small patio which faces the Auditorium of the college.

Many large classes, as well as guests of the college, attend their lectures in the Little Theater. Movies may be shown, the opaque projector may be used, or a professor may simply use the blackboard as he lectures to his class.

Every trimester politically minded students who are interested in their school have an opportunity to run for the Student Senate. Students already in the Senate who feel they have something to offer the students can run for office. Officers of the student government hold their position for two trimesters, since it is believed this gives them a better chance to carry through their campaign promises and help the students.

Everyone knows when an election is near for posters and notices line the halls, lounges, and bulletin boards. Campaigns center around pep talks, the rounding up of friends and backers to wear tags, and the making of promises and slogans.

Voters must present their I. D. cards to the checkers as proof of their membership in the student body. City voting machines are often used in these elections.

The men's fraternity at the college is Sigma Kappa Epsilon, and is open to all men of the college. Each trimester new pledges are accepted after showing their interest and desire to join by following the initiation stipulations. The fraternity sponsors dances, the book exchange in cooperation with the sorority, tutoring programs for members, and various charity projects. The organization is sponsored by Mr. Moorhead, a member of the faculty.

sigma kappa epsilon's "sweetheart dance '64"

The second Annual "Sweetheart Dance" was held at the Old Orchard Country Club in Prospect Heights on March seventh. The music was furnished by Johnny Antonelli and his band. Gerri Binko was chosen as the fraternity's queen to reign during 1964 and 1965.

A rather new activity at the college, which involves both the sorority and fraternity, is the Book Exchange. At the beginning of each trimester, all students can sell old books and buy used books at a very reasonable rate. The book exchange is gaining popularity rapidly, and it provides money for other activities of the sorority and fraternity.

The purpose of the ladies' service association, or sorority, is the commission of service and participation in varied social events as determined by the active sisters. Everyone is welcome to become an active sister. Lambda Sigma Alpha was the name chosen for the sorority since the first letter of each word fits in with our purpose.

The service and social activities are co-ordinated by the officers with the help of their sponsor, Mrs. Schrager. Whenever there is help needed in the school or the community, the sorority is on hand.

In the past semester they have given service to the school by ushering, serving at teas, leading tours, leading discussion groups at Orientation, and conducting the book-exchange.

For the community they have given service by presenting "The Day the Gun Smoked" and giving the proceeds, $100, to charity, carving pumpkins every Halloween for orphanages, giving a food basket to a needy family from each of the three major faiths each Thanksgiving, giving candy to orphanages each Christmas, sponsoring a "Clothing Drive for the Needy", and tutoring at elementary schools.

Besides participating in service activities they also have many social activities, some only for the sorority sisters and others for the whole school. In the past they have had such activities as: a Penny Carnival each April, a Mother's Day Luncheon, a Pledge Luncheon each September, and picnics.

"We are willing to help and want to be known, so please let us help you."

The Beehive, in its second year of publication, has a staff of twelve active members. The staff meets once each week to assign pages and collect completed assignments. Each editor assigns work to each of his staff members, and the Editor-in-Chief, Darlene Jurkowski, coordinates the pages into the completed yearbook, aided by the editors and faculty advisor, Mr. Frank Fritzmann.

spanish club

The Spanish Club, one of the largest clubs on the campus, offers each student the opportunity to extend his cultural background. The club's program includes guest speakers, Spanish movies, and native dances. The club also plans many outside activities such as picnics and visits to Spanish restaurants. The club is under the sponsorship of Mrs. Rosalyn O'Cherony, whose enthusiasm for Spanish is expressed in the excellent organization and planning of the Spanish Club.

united nations club

The primary purposes of the United Nations Club are to promote interest in the United Nations and to develop in the members a greater understanding of the United Nation's activities. The U.N. Club strives to encourage investigation of international politics, to develop an understanding of different systems of government, and to foster an appreciation of foreign cultures. Each member gains a working knowledge of parliamentary procedure and its tactics.

These ideals are brought into reality by participation of the members of the Club in U.N. conventions, especially the annual Midwest Model United Nations (MMUN). Chicago Teachers' College-North has participated in the MMUN for the past two years representing the countries of Somalis in 1963, Iraq in 1964, and will represent Syria in 1965.

The club is sponsored by Mrs. Z. Werchun.

student emergency loan fund

The Student Emergency Loan Fund (S.E.L.F.) originated in the summer of 1963. Since then, two benefits have raised the size of the Fund to $1100 as of July, 1964. A third benefit is in the planning for early 1965. Since S.E.L.F.'s first loan, which was issued in December, 1963, until the close of the first fiscal year in July, 1964, $1155 had been loaned out to 19 people. Since then, business has been on a continuous upward climb.

Any student of Chicago Teachers' College-North in need of financial aid in order to continue his attendance at C.T.C.-North, and whose application meets majority approval of the Acceptance Committee, may borrow up to $75.00 from this fund. After the next benefit, the Committee hopes to raise the size of the loans to $150.00.

math club

The Math Club is one of the newer organizations on campus. It was founded in the summer trimester of 1964 under the guidance of Mr. Patricelli who now holds the position of being the club's faculty advisor.

One of the purposes of the Math Club is to foster an interest in mathematics beyond what is presented in the classroom. In the past, this has been done by having guests speak at the meetings. These people have come from various fields in mathematics—professors from different universities, mathematicians working in industry. In the future, however, the emphasis will be shifted to student lecturers. This approach allows the student to become familiar with doing some research in math and with preparing a talk using the results of his work.

It is the hope of the Math Club and its officers, Marcyann Druke and Carol Kunkle, that eventually every member will have a turn at being a student lecturer.

interim

Interim, the college newspaper, is published every other week. The staff consists of an Editor, Assistant Editor, Art Editor, Columnists, reporters, photographer, cartoonist, business, office, and advertising managers. It includes drama, book, and movie reviews, sports reviews, and expresses the opinions of the editor and staff on pertinent events. It also includes guest editorials and a new column called, "Frankly Speaking." All writing and editing is done by the student editors and staff. The faculty sponsor is Mr. Ely Liebow.

The organization on campus, known as P. A. D., was organized to raise money so the college could have dormitories for the students. The organization is fairly new and invites new members to join in their activities each trimester. The group has tried in many ways to raise money, and have been somewhat successful. Their Hootenanny last year was very successful and they plan many other all-school events for the future.

ROW I. Dolares Krutz, Dave Luske, Pres., Dr. Charlier, Sandra Laskawski, Vice Pres., Carale Baranowski. ROW II: Lenice Gaethke; Nancy Berndt, Vernon Jargensen, Lottie Rzewski; Herman Rechten; Judy Scheets; Kenton H. Knorr, Rec. Sec.-Tres.

The purpose of the club is to extend to the student body of the College an opportunity to become acquainted with the principles of geography and in what manner man adopts to his environment. The club attempts to illustrate to the student that geography is not merely the study of places and climates on a map, but rather an integrated approach to the study of man, and consequently an understanding of ourselves, in a natural and created environment.

Basically, the club attempts to materialize the above mentioned purposes by illustrating them through films and lectures, given both by members of this school's faculty and outside scholars. With the augmentation of membership, the club will sponsor programs showing the cultures of other lands through dances, luaus, music festivals, symposiums, craft shows, and perhaps trips.

The club is open to any student in the college. It is not required that the student be a geography major, for the club truly wants to imbue all students with an understanding of this earth.

student community volunteers

The Community Service Volunteers is an organization which is devoted to working with underprivileged children throughout Chicago.

Their primary functions are serving as tutors, group leaders, and big sisters and brothers at various schools and agencies in the inner city.

This organization is helping to serve the Governor's program on Literacy & Learning.

The Young Republicans Club was organized at Chicago Teachers College-North during the 1964 Presidential Campaign. Its purpose is both political and social, since the members are striving for good government and a government under which everyone will be free to develop to their fullest potential. Mr. Kane is the faculty sponsor of this newly formed club.

the chess and checker club

The Chess and Checker Club is one of the most challenging and exciting new organizations on campus. Its primary goal is the stimulation of the powers of logic through interaction of both faculty and students in competitive sports. This goal is achieved by many varieties of activities. Tournaments and championships are held among the members themselves as well as among students of other schools. Weekly problem solving is provided on the Chess and Checker Bulletin Board, having many announcements of tournaments, as well as puzzles, quizzes, and other thought provoking contests. Demonstrations and lectures are also provided for interested members. One need not be an expert to thoroughly enjoy many afternoons of such competitive relaxation.

Women's Officers: Nancy Ledford, President, Marcia Chernow, Vice President, Janice Stanberg, Secretary, and Janet Olson, Treasurer.

The Physical Health Club has many active members, and offers many activities to please everyone. The frequent Fun Nites offer a wide variety of things to do, from swimming to using the trampoline. The volleyball tournaments are very popular, and badminton is a good winter replacement for those who like to play tennis. Golf and tennis share the spotlight in summer activities.

Orchesis is a voluntary club dedicated to the art of modern dance. The only qualifications for membership are: Sex-female, eagerness to learn, and a great love for "the dance." The club is sponsored by Mrs. Dolores Petty. There is a one dollar fee per trimester. Officers are elected from the membership and instruction is done by the girls themselves, each member bringing to the club her ideas and individual talents. Note that previous dance training or experience is not necessary, although helpful. Orchesis was founded on the idea that each member would learn new styles, new techniques, and experiment while strengthening basic dance foundations. The unofficial motto is: "Let's try it and see what happens." Orchesis attempts to produce at least one show a year for presentation at Chicago Teachers College-North. While still young in comparison with other organizations, Orchesis has been well received by the school and hopes to continue this trend. Perhaps the most important comment about the club is that, while there is much work, and a good deal of frustrating excitement, every minute to every member, is filled with fun and the satisfaction of doing something she loves to the best of her ability.

ROW I: Carol Snabel—Choreography, Susan Nichols—Choreography, Kathy Brennan—Vice President, Lorraine Nash—President, Pat Lane—Treasurer, Vanita Davis—Vice President. ROW II: Ann Kapanis, Brigitte Lux, Janice Stansberry, Sharilyn Addison, Fern Denis, Dixie Alletta, Regina Castella—Secretary. ROW III: Linda Ozag, Marie Adelphia, Eileen Kennedy, Eleanora Bukowski, Ilze Hartmanis, Pam Berner.

Clockwise from extreme left: Mickey Goldstein, Mrs. Berniece Zimmermon, Rosemary Boyd, Jonice Rockwood, Victario Jaskierski, Gerald Thomas, Herb Nestler, Marilyn O'Leary, Caron O'Hara, Mildred Lovin, Isobel Schechter, Berde Sutchar, Vivion Hoop.

The purpose of Group Dynamics is to help develop students who are distinguished from others by the marks of an educated man. It provides the group leaders with an understanding of their role as future teachers, as well as knowledge of the general organization of the college. This group was newly organized in the Fall of 1964.

The UNESCO-CEF club is an organization that furthers the purposes of UNESCO and UNICEF (United Nations Educational Scientific Cultural Organization and United Nations International Children's Emergency Fund, respectively). The club sponsors a cultural evening once a month, to which films, food, and entertainment from different countries are brought to create more understanding and empathy of Americans toward different cultures of the world. The club also sponsors the selling of UNICEF greeting cards and the money received from the sales is used to help children all over the world. Along with its international activities, the club has social events for its members and also brings speakers of local organizations to speak to the students at CTC-N. In September of 1964 the club was reorganized and since then has continued to have great success.

The UNESCO-CEF Club has many activities to help other countries. One of the many such activities was held in the September, 1964 trimester. The club sold UNICEF cards and other games, books, and articles made in other countries, such as Spain. The articles were very beautiful and many would serve as great aids in teaching about other countries. The money collected from activities such as these is used to aid countries who need help in many areas, such as education for the children.

scene shown below Willy Loman is playing cards with his neighbor Charley, while in the background, his brother, Ben, who has been gone for many years, lures Willy away from reality.

The pictures on this page give a glimpse of the other characters who joined in making "Death of a Salesman" a great success.

On November 20 and 21 the Stage Players put on two short plays "The Tiger" and "The Typists". Joe Capp and Penny Wilson are shown below in a scene from "The Typists". Both of these plays were modern satires written by Murray Schisgal. They showed states and situations which were relevant to our times but were compressed and condensed for artistic productions.

The first Summer Art Workshop was a new idea to update teachers in art education, a field that has changed a great deal in the last ten years. One hundred and eight elementary and high school teachers enrolled for these classes which were held in the art rooms, the Little Theater, and out on the lawns. Mrs. Hallberg, Miss Banks, and Mrs. Fatz conducted the Workshops, utilizing a wide variety of art media.

Recent films, slides, and displays of original work were presented during the morning lectures. Question and answer periods followed the lectures. Afternoon workshops were for individual activities in several art media. A daily check of the work by students and teachers lead to new motivation and evaluation of art.

graduation - august 19, 1964

The Graduates, as Commencement ends, and they leave our College, prepared to help other youngsters reach this moment. This is the climax of many years of hard work and a beginning of new and different, but rewarding work.

The August graduation was the second to be held on Campus. Guest speaker at this graduation was Governor Otto Kerner, who spoke on the future of education in Illinois. Welcoming remarks were given by Dean Sachs. After Governor Kerner's address, the 68 Bachelor of Arts degrees, and 92 Bachelor of Education degrees were awarded.

graduation - december 22, 1964

The Graduates, as they file into the Auditorium for the last time as undergraduates of Chicago Teachers College. From this night onward, they will be vital instruments of our nation in furthering its ideals of freedom and democracy.

Dr. Preston Bradley offering the closing prayer.

Dr. Nable Lee, guest speaker and Dean of John Marshall Law School.

The December Commencement was the first to be broadcasted and announced by the Student T.V. Workshop. This was also the first time Chicago Teachers College-North awarded Masters degrees. There were awarded to two candidates. Bachelor of Arts degrees were awarded to 49 students, and Bachelor of Education degrees were awarded to 78 students. Student Marshalls for the ceremony were Miss Darlene Jurkowski and Mr. Richard Thome.

Choosing the pose and the number of pictures is important to the student. This picture will be a lasting remembrance of his many years of preparation for a most important goal.

A student feels so much closer to graduation when he is able to sign his name to the list of Seniors who are getting their appointments for graduation pictures.

As the student sits before the camera, many thoughts may pass through his mind. He may remember a similar time, three or four years ago, when he had his picture taken for his high school graduation, or he may think of the future for which he has prepared himself all these years.

a time for recognition

This year Chicago Teachers College—North marks the loss of a dedicated teacher with the retirement of Dr. Anna Kummer. Dr. Kummer, a Professor of Biology, has taught in the Chicago Public Schools for 38 years.

After graduating from the University of Chicago, Dr. Kummer first taught in the elementary schools for two years. Then, she went into the high schools where she taught biology and botany.

In 1948 Dr. Kummer received her Ph.D. at the University of Chicago. In order to do this she wrote a book, Weed Seedlings, which was later published by the University of Chicago Press. In this book, which she also illustrated, Dr. Kummer investigated and identified over three hundred different weeds.

In 1951, while Chicago Teachers College was set up as a trial college at Carl Schurz High School, Dr. Kummer decided to go into college teaching. Since that time she has moved with the college from Schurz to the Sabin Branch, and finally to its new location here in 1961.
