

6th Annual Symposium on Genocide and Human Rights Research in Africa and the Diaspora

Dr. Jermaine McCalpin

Dr. Jermaine McCalpin is currently Chair of African and African-American Studies Program at New Jersey City University. He received his B.Sc. in Political Science and International Relations M.Sc. from the University of the West Indies, Mona. He earned his M.A. and Ph.D. in Political Science from Brown University. Dr. McCalpin is an internationally recognized expert and consultant on transitional justice, genocide, and reparations.

November 5th
Student Union 103
12:30pm

<http://www.neiu.edu/genocide-and-human-rights>

Dignifying Suffering: Reparations and Restorative Justice in Deeply Divided Societies

"In this talk, I argue that until reparations and restorative justice models are engaged and enacted, the genocide persists."

Supported by College of Arts & Sciences, President's Office, Provost's Office, Student Affairs, Carruthers Center for Inner City Studies, Human Rights Club, Departments of TESOL and AFAM

The Genocide and Human Rights Research Team: Sharon Bethea, Peter Bul, Chielozona Eze, Alfred Frankowski, Jeanine Ntahirageza, T.Y. Okosun, Olivia Perlow, Cris Toffolo, Sarah Travis