HOW A PLAY IS BORN

By Carolyn Nielsen

Time: Tuesday, May 18, 7 p. m.
Place: Little Theatre

Situation: A predominate tenseness in the air in the form of extreme giddiness among the persons present. As each was called upon, his nervousness probably was increased a bit. But as the actors became more involved, the nervousness seemed to change to enjoyment.

But, alas! The air of enjoyment

The programing department of Northeastern has arranged to get box seat tickets for two Chicago Cubs baseball games at reduced prices for students; one game in June, the other in July.

Twenty tickets for seats along the third base line will be available for the St. Louis game, June 17, at two dollars each with a validated ID card. They will be on sale, 9:30 a. m. - noon, June 15, and 16, or as long as they last, at the information booth outside the auditorium. Tickets will be sold to persons not students at the regular $3.50 price.

For the July 20 game against the New York Mets, a two dollar ticket will buy one of a block of 48 seats and a bus ride from the college to and from the park. Persons not students can purchase tickets and ride the bus for $4.25.

didn't last long. For then Wednesday came and so did much anxiety; then, 11 a. m., Thursday; the wait was getting too much for all involved. Finally it was posted--the cast list for Stage Players' spring production, "Under Milkwood," by Dylan Thomas.

The company was announced to be: Thom Brandolino, Sherry Firestein, Tom Burton, Leslie Gray, Bob Eichenfeld, Marcy Mark, Tom Gora, Carolyn Nielsen, Ken James, Leni Raichert, John Mann, Gayle Wapole, Richard Oas, Rose Wimsberg, and Bruce Urso.

Dylan Thomas completed this very different sort of play, the complete name of which is "Under Milkwood--A Play for Voices," one month before he died in 1953. There isn't really a definite story line to be followed. The play is sketches of many characters that make up a typical day in Lloreggub, a village in Wales. Fifteen actors play the parts of 64 characters.

The play will be performed 8:30 p. m., June 18, 19, 24, 25, 26, in the Little Theatre.

Credit union insures savings

The Northeastern Illinois Federal Credit Union now carries federal insurance of members' share accounts (up to $20,000 each). This insurance is similar to the kind of insurance available to banks and savings and loans organizations. The NIFCU, which is made up of faculty and staff, has current assets in excess of $16,000 and hopes to be able to expand its loan granting activities by issuing automobile loans in the near future. The interest rate charged by the credit union is one percent of the unpaid balance per month, which is considerably lower than any rate currently available from a bank or loan company. Faculty and staff members who are not already members of the credit union can join with an initial deposit of as little as $5.25. Payroll deductions are available and, in fact, members are saving over $3000 each month via payroll deductions.

For more information concerning the NIFCU, contact any of the following officers: Kenneth Mulmat (ext. 474), Michael Belica (ext. 547), Caroline Koschnitzke (ext. 394), Michael Stephenson (ext. 579), Mary Syron (ext. 274) or David Tompkins (ext. 294).
