July 12, 1971

BREMER TO SPEAK ABOUT OPEN SCHOOLS, JULY 14

John Bremer, creator and original director of the Parkway Program, a "school without walls" program in Philadelphia, Pennsylvania, will speak about "Schools without Walls," 3 p. m., July 14, in the auditorium. The program is sponsored by the educational forum of the college of education. It is open to the public without charge.

Bremer, a native of England, came to the United States in 1951 as a Fulbright Fellow. He has graduate degrees from the University of Cambridge, the University of Leicester, St. John's College, and has worked with the Tavistock Institute of Human Relations.

OUR SYMPATHY

To Mrs. Blossom Shkolnik whose mother, Mrs. Anna Feldman, died June 29.

With the Faculty

DR. LEONARD SETZE of the department of elementary education has been informed that his article, "Checklist for the New Teacher," is to be published in the August/September issue of "Instructor."

DR. MAURICE GUYSENIR, chairman of the secondary education department, spoke on the topic, "Simulation and Games," at the 1971 summer institute for teachers, department heads, and administrators of the schools associated with the Great Lakes Region, Union of American Hebrew Congregations, June 18, at Oconomowoc, Wisconsin, after which he led the group in the playing of an educational game.

DR. JAMES LOCKWOOD attended the forty-ninth annual meeting of the National Council of Teachers of Mathematics, April 14 - 17, in Anaheim, California.

PROFESSORS ARTHUR SABIN, JOSEPH MORTON, JUNE SOCHEN, DAVID TOMPKINS, AND CHARLES BARBER of the history department attended the annual meeting of the Organization of American Historians, April 14 - 17, in New Orleans, Louisiana.

WANT TO SPEND FOUR MONTHS ON AN ISRAELI KIBBUTZ AND EARN COLLEGE CREDIT FOR IT? If you do, hurry and sign up with Professor Rose Brandzel, office annex 12. Enrollment is limited to 20 students who must be accepted by the Experimental College, approved by two members of the supervisory faculty, and accepted by the Israel Programs Office.

All students who register to spend the winter trimester on the kibbutz must sign up now for the three hour experimental college planning course beginning in September. The planning course will include orientation for kibbutz living, instruction in Hebrew, information about Israel, and research and study planning. Israeli experts will help with the course. Students who already have registered can add the planning course to their schedules up to a maximum of 18 hours.

During the first and last weeks of the stay in Israel, students will receive four hours of lectures and discussions with Israeli professors each day. Ten days of the stay will be devoted to organized tours arranged by the kibbutz. Ten days are set aside for individual exploration.

Students will be expected to work on the kibbutz in accordance with its needs. This could include agricultural day labor as well as less strenuous physical work such as teaching.

Students will pay tuition to NISC on the regular basis. The rest of the expenses which include round trip transportation from Chicago, side trips, and education will be about $600, maximum. The kibbutz will provide room, board and medical care. Students will be helped to obtain federally insured loans, if needed.

This unusual plan was initiated and developed by members of KLAL, Professor Brandzel of the Office of Community Service, and the Office of Israel Programs in cooperation with Dr. Robert Goldberg and the faculty committee on new programs.

Students wishing to participate in the program should register at once with Professor Brandzel.

SPECIAL EDUCATION DEPARTMENT SPONSORS CONFERENCE HERE

The special education department is sponsoring a high school conference, Project Preview '71, July 18 - 23, to which 26 Chicago area high school students interested in special education have been invited.

Registration will be the afternoon of July 18 at Newman House, 5450 Kimball avenue, following which will be orientation and get-acquainted sessions and an informal dinner.

During the week, the students will spend each morning visiting special education schools in the area. Afternoons will be spent with Northeastern undergraduates in special education, professionals, and members of the special education faculty in meetings concerning various areas of special education.

Grace Warfield, editor of "Exceptional Children" magazine will be the speaker at the closing banquet, July 23. Mrs. Warfield is assistant executive secretary of the Council for Exceptional Children, Washington, D. C. She has taught trainable and educable mentally retarded children for many years. She was teacher, coordinator of classes, and principal in the Minneapolis school system. She taught retarded children at the Sheltering Arms Day School and Research Center in Minneapolis. She was a school psychologist for three years in Minnesota.

The afternoon of July 22, Mrs. Warfield will speak about the Council for Exceptional Children information center.

Twenty-three Chicago high schools and Carmel High School, Mundelein, are represented by the students attending the conference. The visiting students will be housed in the Acres Motel on Lincoln Avenue along with NISC counselors Davia Baldauf, Fred Frederick, Corrine Jones, and Kirill Thompson. Evening activities include a splash party, encounter group, and film festival.

Co-chairmen of the conference are Davia Baldauf and Dr. Glen Thompson. Dr. William Itkin is chairman of the special education department.

Mrs. Warfield has taught summer courses at the University of South Dakota, Vermillion; the University of Minnesota, Duluth, and in Canada. She is co-author of "Understanding Mentally Retarded Children" and contributed a chapter in "The Role of the Resource Consultant in Special Education."

Civil Service

The register is closed for all other openings. The positions either are filled or candidates are being interviewed.

Now would be a good time to take examinations either in your promotional line or in another class for which you meet qualifications. Contact Diane Langridge, Extension 388, to discuss possible promotional opportunities.

DID YOU KNOW?

In an effort to head off tougher Federal Trade Commission requirements, seven tobacco companies have agreed to display a health warning in future cigarette ads.

NEW SERIES TO START SOON

What does the curriculum council do?

How powerful is the faculty senate?

Did you know there was a health and safety committee?

These and other questions about the operation of NISC: councils, committees, who makes what decisions, the relationship of NISC to the state college and university system: form the basis for a new series in "...like it is." We hope to discover the answers to questions most in the minds of students, faculty, and staff. Readers having questions are invited to write the paper. We'll do what we can to explain and interpret the workings of the government of the college.

ZIAGOS TELLS POOL REGULATIONS

Vacation time for Chicagoland pupils is upon us and this July-August period can be a very hectic time for the Physical Education Area. We are always asked to allow the faculty and staff children and friends to use the pool and gymnasium and, unfortunately, this gets out of control. The college students start bringing their brothers, sisters, cousins, et al, and then we start having hassles as to who rightly belongs in the area.

Therefore, the rules we have devised to keep things in proper perspective are as follows:

1. Faculty, staff and students are cordially invited to use the facilities according to the schedule set up in the Registration book, page 86 under the title, Physical Health Club, Students-Faculty and Staff. There is also a large sign with the schedule posted on the glass window just before you enter the gymnasium.
2. No students are allowed to bring guests.
3. Faculty and staff may bring their own children BUT, they must remain WITH them in the pool or gym.
4. Faculty and staff should not bring anyone elses children.
5. Soap showers are compulsory.
6. Bathing caps for long hair are also compulsory.
7. In case the pool is too crowded the instructor has the prerogative of limiting the time in the pool for one group so that others might get to use the facility.

It is our hope that these rules will make it possible for us all to have fine recreational experiences this coming summer.

Physical Education

BENEFIT PERFORMANCE OF "THE APPLE TREE", JULY 19

NISC thespians will aid the work of the City of Hope when they present "The Apple Tree", 8 p. m., July 19, in the auditorium. The City of Hope, an organization devoted to the treatment of and research in catastrophic diseases such as leukemia, is sponsoring the production and will receive the proceeds.

NISC faculty, staff and students will be admitted to the performance for one dollar. They are especially invited to attend. Cost of admission for other persons is two dollars.

"The Apple Tree," a light, humorous musical in three acts, is directed by Randy Baker, NISC student, who directed the cutting of "You're a Good Man, Charlie Brown" last summer. Ronna Kaye, choreographer of "Grease" at the Kingston Mines Theatre, Chicago, has choreographed "The Apple Tree."

From 1962 to 1966, he was a professor in the University of Leicester graduate school of education working with prospective and practicing teachers in the Leicestershire Plan schools developing new methods of teacher training and new approaches to learning. In 1965, he became a member of the British School of Archaeology in Athens. The following year, he was elected a Fellow of the Royal Geographical Society.

Since 1946, when he taught in a one room elementary school, Bremer has had a wide experience in education at all age levels and in all types of institutions.

At present, he is academic dean of Newton (Mass.) College of the Sacred Heart and director of The Institute for Open Education. He is co-author of two forthcoming books, "School without Walls" and "Open Education for Beginners."
