DANIELS TO SPEAK ON
"THE CHALLENGES FACING
METROPOLITAN CHICAGO-
A SUBURBAN PERSPECTIVE"

Lee A. Daniels (R-46), Republican leader in the Illinois House of Representatives, will discuss "The Challenges Facing Metropolitan Chicago - A Suburban Perspective" on Monday, December 5, at 11:00 a.m. in the auditorium. Following his speech, Daniels will accept questions from the audience.

This program is part of the Distinguished Lectureship Series, "Chicago: Toward the 21st Century," which is sponsored by Inland Real Estate Corporation and coordinated by the City Club of Chicago and Northeastern.

Currently in his fifth term as a representative, Daniels has sponsored and supported laws protecting consumer interests, prompting judicial reform, increasing the penalties for repeat criminal offenders, and protecting small business against criminal fraud.

In January of this year, Daniels was chosen as the leader of his party by the Republican members of the House of Representatives of the 83rd General Assembly. A majority whip during the 82nd General Assembly, Daniels emerged as chief Republican spokesman on a number of key issues, including merit selection of judges and Regional Transportation Authority reform.

In order to remove political patronage from the selection of Illinois judges, Daniels favors a state constitutional amendment which would clear the way for judicial selection based on merit rather than political affiliation. On transportation, Daniels worked for fair treatment of the suburban area, while recognizing the need for adequate services for the entire Metropolitan Chicago area and downstate Illinois.

Daniels is an attorney and managing partner in the law firm of Daniels and Faris. Before winning election to the House in 1974, Daniels served as an elected member of the York Township Board of Trustees for six and one-half years and as a special prosecutor for the Illinois Attorney General's Office. He received his law degree from John Marshall Law School.

Daniels has been an active member of the Republican Party for more than 20 years. He has served as precinct committeeman, vice-chairman and treasurer of the York Township Republican Committeeman's Organization and president of the Elmhurst Young Republican's Organization. He has managed several statewide campaigns within DuPage County.

The New York Times noted on Sunday, October 16, that "internships, once viewed as career-training programs strictly for college students, have changed. More people have discovered that internships can be a creative way to test job skills." For KAREN JANSSEN, a 30-year old mother and student in the Department of Information Science, a six-month internship was a way to get practical work experience. "Experience is very important in getting a job. A person with six months experience will get hired over someone with no real work experience," Janssen said.

J. FRED MAC DONALD, professor of history, discussed societal trends that have led to the phenomenon of male models on calendars on the "4:30 News" on WLS-TV (Channel 7), on Monday, November 21.

RE: DECEMBER 5 LECTURE BY REPRESENTATIVE LEE DANIELS

On next Monday, December 5, State Representative Lee A. Daniels, Minority Leader of the Illinois House, will discuss "The Challenges Facing Metropolitan Chicago - A Suburban Perspective" at 11:00 a.m. in the auditorium. During the last General Assembly session, Representative Daniels emerged as the chief Republican spokesperson on issues ranging from merit selection of judges to Regional Transportation Authority reform. A four-term representative from DuPage County, he has sponsored legislation on consumer protection, increased penalties for repeat criminal offenders, and the protection of small businesses against criminal fraud.

I strongly encourage all university faculty and staff members to make arrangements so that you can attend this lecture. A substantial audience will help us demonstrate to corporations and legislators that the Northeastern community recognizes their support.

I appreciated your attendance at the November lecture featuring Representative Michael Madigan, and I look forward to seeing you on Monday.
