

1-31-1986

FYI- Jan. 31, 1986

University Relations Staff

Follow this and additional works at: <https://neiudc.neiu.edu/fyi>

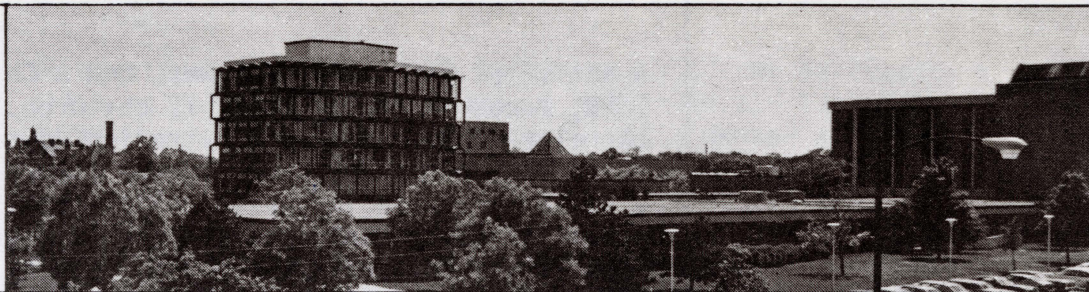

Recommended Citation

Staff, University Relations, "FYI- Jan. 31, 1986" (1986). FYI. 100.
<https://neiudc.neiu.edu/fyi/100>

This Student Publication is brought to you for free and open access by the Publications at NEIU Digital Commons. It has been accepted for inclusion in FYI by an authorized administrator of NEIU Digital Commons. For more information, please contact neiudc@neiu.edu.

fvi

FOR YOUR INFORMATION

January 31, 1986

FYI is published by University Relations, Northeastern Illinois University, for university faculty and staff members. Please send information to Terry Katz, University Relations, C-437.

LECTURE ON "A NATION AT RISK: THE CHICAGO RESPONSE"

Sister Mary Brian Costello, R.S.M., superintendent of schools of the Archdiocese of Chicago, and George Munoz, president of the Chicago Board of Education, will discuss "A Nation at Risk: The Chicago Response" on Tuesday, February 11, at 11:00 a.m., in the commuter center, room 217. Following the program the speakers will accept questions from the audience.

This is the second program sponsored by Inland Real Estate Corporation and coordinated by the City Club of Chicago and Northeastern in their "Distinguished Lectureship Series: Illinois: In the Interest of the People."

Sister Mary Brian Costello was appointed superintendent of the Catholic Archdiocese of the Chicago school system, the largest Catholic system in the United States. Her appointment by Joseph Cardinal Bernardin in 1984 marked the first time a woman was selected for the post.

A native of Peoria, Sister Mary Brian moved to Chicago where she attended St. Thomas Aquinas Elementary School and Sienna High School. After graduation, she entered the Sisters of Mercy Convent. She later received a bachelor of arts degree in English from Chicago's St. Xavier College and a master of arts degree in English/writing from the University of Notre Dame.

An educator for 38 years, Sister Mary Brian taught in Catholic elementary and high schools in Chicago and Ottawa. She was principal of Mother McAuley Liberal Arts High School and director of ministry for the Chicago province of Sisters of Mercy. From 1979 to 1983, she served as a planning consultant for the Office of Catholic Education. In August 1983, she was named acting superintendent of the Catholic school system.

Sister Mary Brian is on the board of trustees of Mercy Hospital and Medical Center, Girl Scouts of America, and Excellence in Teaching Foundation.

George Munoz was elected president of the Chicago Board of Education in 1984 and re-elected in 1985. At age 35, he is the youngest of the 74 presidents in Chicago Board of Education history.

A native of Brownsville, Texas, and a Chicago resident since 1980, Munoz is the fifth of 12 children. He received a bachelor of business administration degree from the University of Texas, a law degree from Harvard University, a master's degree in public policy from Harvard's Kennedy School of Government, and a master's degree in law-taxation from DePaul University.

Munoz was named to the Chicago Board of Education by Mayor Harold Washington in February 1984, and elected president in May. He is also a tax attorney and certified public accountant with the law firm of Mayer, Brown, and Platt.

Munoz is commissioner of the Chicago Public Building Commission, a board member of the National Clearinghouse for Legal Services, Inc., and board legal advisor of the Hispanic Institute of Law Enforcement.

Other lecturers scheduled for this year's series will include: March 11: Patrick Murphy, public guardian, will speak on "Advocates for the People;" April 8: J. Terrence Brunner, executive director of the Better Government Association, will speak on "Watchdogs for the People;" and May 15: John Callaway, host of "Chicago Tonight," WTTW-TV, will speak on "The People's Right to Know."

DANIEL GOODWIN TO RECEIVE
HONORARY DEGREE

Daniel Goodwin, an alumnus of Northeastern, and founder, chairman of the board, and president of Inland Real Estate Corporation, a billion-dollar diversified real estate and financial services organization, will be the recipient of an Honorary Doctor of Humane Letters degree from Northeastern. The honorary degree is awarded each year to an individual who has achieved major distinction for academic, literary, business, professional, or public service endeavors. The degree will be conferred on Goodwin at the university's commencement ceremony on Sunday, May 18, at Medinah Temple.

Active nationally in business and professional affairs, Goodwin is one of approximately 20 prominent corporate leaders who meet regularly with President Ronald Reagan's administrative staff as members of the Senate Business Forum. As chief executive officer of Inland, Goodwin oversees operations of the largest property management firm in the Midwest and the 20th largest home building firm in the United States.

As a student at Northeastern (then, Chicago Teachers College North), Goodwin was the first president of the student government. Today, in spite of his active business and professional life, he gives generously of his time to a variety of charitable organizations. He is a member of the board of directors of the Little City Foundation, a school for the mentally handicapped in Palatine, a member of the board of trustees of the Elmhurst Hospital Health Service Foundation, and founder of the Chicago-area Fellowship Fund for Cancer Research.

In addition, he serves as a board member of the Northeastern Illinois University Foundation, a member of the National Multi-Housing World Advisory Board, and a member of the board of directors of Avenue Bank of Oak Park.

In 1980, Goodwin was selected as the Chicago City of Hope's Man of the Year by the Greater Chicago Builders, Developers, and Contractors Council. In 1984, Northeastern nominated him for the 14th Annual Distinguished Alumnus Award of the American Association of State Colleges and Universities.

Before embarking on his real estate career, Goodwin was a Chicago public school science teacher. He received his bachelor's degree from Northeastern and his master's degree from Northern Illinois University.

IN THE MEDIA

UPCOMING IN THE MEDIA

GERALD NEMANIC, professor of English, has announced the programs scheduled for February for his show, "Writing/Chicago," a program devoted to the writers and literary life of Chicago. The show is broadcast on WBEZ-FM (91.5) on Friday afternoons at 1:00.

Following are the programs scheduled for February:

February 7 Interview with Mel Waskin, author of Mrs. O'Leary's Comet

February 14 "Another Chicago Magazine"

February 21 Interview with Robert Von Hallberg, author of American Poetry and Culture, 1945-1980

February 28 Interview with John F. Nims, author of A Local Habitation

JANET W. LERNER, chairperson and professor of special education, was quoted in an article entitled "Intervention in the Early Years: Initiatives for Handicapped Preschoolers Lift Hopes, Leave Unanswered Questions" in the Wednesday, December 18, issue of Education Week.

ANDERSON THOMPSON, associate professor of inner city studies education, wrote an article entitled "King Holiday and Black History" for the Chicago Defender on Thursday, January 23.

DEBRA BRUCE, assistant professor of English, had some of her poems published in the January issues of Open Places and Prairie Schooner.

ELLEN CANNON, associate professor of political science, gave a presentation on "The Voices of Women in the Holocaust" at Am Shalom Temple, in Glencoe, on Thursday, December 5. The discussion focused on the treatment, responses, and histories of women who were Holocaust victims.

HONORS AND ACTIVITIES

RENNY GOLDEN, assistant professor of criminal justice, gave a speech on the "Sanctuary Movement" at Creighton University in Omaha, Nebraska, on Saturday, December 7. The program was sponsored by the Department of Philosophy. She was also a guest lecturer at the National Lawyers Guild Conference, in Detroit, Michigan, on Friday, November 15. Her address was entitled "Sanctuary Movement: Legal/Moral Issues."

MAURICE GUYSENIR, professor of curriculum and instruction, served on the executive planning committee and presented a slide/tape program on "The Civil War" at the annual convention of the National Council for the Social Studies at the Hyatt Regency Hotel in Chicago, on Sunday, November 24. Guysenir is also a consultant to the Roosevelt Center for American Policy Issues which is developing a simulation on nuclear proliferation for secondary school students.

EDMUND HUNT, associate professor of special education, was a guest speaker at a forum entitled "Identification of the Gifted" for Spectrum Educational Center, in Buffalo Grove, on Wednesday, November 13. His presentation focused on parental concerns.

BARBARA LOWENTHAL, assistant professor of special education, gave a speech on "Movement for Fun and Learning for Special Needs of Preschoolers" at the National Association for the Education of Young Children conference, in New Orleans, on Tuesday, November 19.

ANGELINA PEDROSO, associate professor of foreign languages and literatures, received the Distinguished Honor Award from the Cuban Educational Crusade for her work in Cuban history and education. Each year, the organization honors individuals of Cuban descent in the United States who have distinguished themselves in the educational, cultural, and scientific fields. This year, the ceremony was held at the Koubek Memorial Center at the University of Miami, on Saturday, November 23.

ELYSE MACH PEIRICK, professor of music, presented a one-day program for the Piano Teachers Forum in Grand Rapids, Michigan, on Friday, November 8. The morning sessions were devoted to two topics: 1) "Thoughts, Viewpoints, and Pedagogical Practices of Great Pianists" and 2) "Video Techniques in Teaching Piano." The afternoon session was an all-Liszt master class.

ALFRED V. ROBINSON, associate professor of accounting, business law, and finance, recently had an article published in the Journal of Applied Business Research. The article was entitled "The Use of Financial Ratios in Smaller Business Enterprises."