HEARING/RESULTS CREATE UNREST

On Wednesday, March 18, 1981 a Latino student, Irma Romero, had charges brought against her for violating the UNI non-academic code. Specifically, she was charged with obstructing or disrupting a meeting of the "Treacherman Scholars", a faculty organization. She was alleged to have led chanting which disrupted a speech being given by Dr. Duke Frederick on the "annexation" of Puerto Rico.

The results of Romero's hearing have finally reached her and it was decided by the hearing committee that she will not be able to participate in student activities functions.

However, a question has been raised by Student Government President Stephen Gold on the legality of that ruling. He says that his preliminary investigation shows a conflict between the Student Constitution and the decision of the hearing committee. When asked what he meant specifically, he said that it is still under investigation and "that appropriate action will be taken" (to protect Romero's rights).

Romero has stated from the beginning that she thinks that the entire thing is political and that the administration has tried to "railroad" her. She points out that even though she requested an open hearing the administration chose to use a room which would seat only fifteen guests while nearby rooms were empty and much larger.

She also alleges that her witness were not told where they should wait and therefore many were not able to testify. She states that though it was probably Fredericks who brought the charges against her, she was never notified as to who her accusers were.

Liebow Comments on Story

Dear Editor:

After reading your story of Ms. Romero's hearing (March 25, 1981), I was reminded of a phrase from James Joyce: You deal with words and procedure like a cleaver deals with meat. Words are a precious commodity, but you stated in a big bold caption that "Liebow testifies against Irma Romero." Not so, not so. What your reporter and I both attended was a Hearing, not a trial, and the day before the Hearing I as told by Mr. Hassell, who presided over the hearing, that he wanted but one thing of all witnesses - to tell what happened at our seminar/symposium on January 27. That is what I did. I neither testified for nor against Ms. Romero.

Your wondering about whether Ms. Romero's rights were violated also defies logic. If a bunch of pro-

Faculty Members Appointed to Positions

Dr. John Cownie, provost at Northeastern Illinois University, has recently announced the appointment of David Unumb of Arlington Heights as Faculty Coordinator of the university's General Education program.

Unumb, an Associate Professor of Speech and Performing Arts, will be responsible for overseeing the revised graduation requirements for Northeastern undergraduates. In this capacity, he will report to the Dean of the College of Arts and Sciences.

He served for four years as coordinator of the university's Kaskaskia Plan, Northeastern's non-traditional bachelor's degree program which serves students preparing for professions that require a multidisciplinary education.

Unumb is Associate Chairperson of the Speech and Performing Arts Department and a member of the Graduate Executive Council. He also serves the university community in his roles as a portfolio evaluator for the Board of Governor's Degree Program and as a member of the College of Arts and Sciences Budget Committee.

Also appointed to a new position is Dr. Bernard J. Brommel of Lakeview, Professor of Speech and Performing Arts at Northeastern Illinois University. Dr. Brommel has been named coordinator of the university's Kaskaskia Plan. The non-traditional bachelor's degree program is designed to serve students preparing for professions that require a multidisciplinary education. Working with an advisor, Kaskaskia Plan students draw upon the many resources available in the university community. Their study may include interdisciplinary projects, independent study, internships, and field experience.

Brommel received the Northeastern Illinois University Presidential Merit Award in 1979. Since 1971, he has served as a scholar-in-residence in history at Chicago's Newberry Library.

Coalition Opposes Tuition Hike

The Student-Faculty Coalition for Illinois Public Universities met on Wednesday, March 23rd, and outlined its program to gain adequate funding for the Illinois public universities.

The program calls for students and faculty from UNI to join with their colleagues across the state to lobby in Springfield on April 29th. Additionally, faculty and students will staff a table in the Village Square during the week of April 6 to 9 to encourage faculty and students to write to the legislators in their district in support of the coalition's program, which calls for:

- an end to the Illinois Board of Higher Education (IBHE) policy of tying public university tuition to inflation;
- a tuition increase for fiscal year 1982 no higher than the increase in general revenue funding;

- full 10 percent dollar funding for the 10 percent recommended salary increase;
- the full 8 percent increase for on-going costs recommended by the IBHE on January 6;
- the 16-19 percent increase for utilities recommended by the IBHE on January 6, and
- the original $7.7 million dollars in program support recommended by the IBHE.

Recital

Pianist John Owings will present a recital in the Northeastern Illinois University Auditorium, on Friday, April 3, at 8:00 p.m. Robert Sherman of the New York Times said of one of his performances, "Mr. Owings clearly knows his way around the keyboard. His technical control is impressive and his tone is firm and full. He showed imagination in the unhackneyed choice of repertoire and stylistic surety in his approach to it."

Owings will perform three Sonatas by Domenico Scarlatti, Sonata No. 3 in b minor, Op. 58 by Frederic Chopin, Improvisations, Op. 20 by Bela Bartok, and Gaspard de la Nuit by Maurice Ravel.

He made his New York recital debut at Town Hall in 1972, after receiving his masters degree from the Juilliard School. He has given many solo recitals in the United States, Great Britain and Switzerland, and has performed for the BBC and Radio France. School spirit; does it exist at Northeastern?

A major problem at this university is how to get the students involved. Being a commuter school means that even though there is an enrollment of about 10,000 students, it is hard to keep them on campus.

Some people are taking only one or two classes, and they don't spend any time here because they are either working, or have a family. But a large number of students are full time students and have no excuse for not being involved in university events and activities.

Do they realize what they're missing?

Northeastern offers a widely diversified selection of activities for those who are interested. We have competitive teams in almost every sports field, we have a radio station and a newspaper which can offer practical experience for those considering a future in either area.

There is TKE and clubs ranging from a Chess Club to Political Science Club, a China Club to a "Wiz Kids" Club.

If you have a particular interest, chances are there is a club related to it -- and if there isn't - start one!

We have a Student Government which is open for participation, and a Yearbook which can always use any little help that comes along.

You say you like to act? Well, Northeastern offers many chances for future actors/actresses to show their talents!

Play an instrument? Join our Band!

Need I go on? I could!

There really is no excuse for not being active -- it's just a case of apathy on the part of many students. Most students don't realize that the activity fee they pay each trimester goes to support these clubs and activities, and not taking advantage of them is wasting their own money.

This is not to say that all students are apathetic, because some people do become involved. They take advantage of the opportunities and they are better off for it!

We all should sit down for a minute and think about what we really want to get at this university.

Northeastern has a lot to offer -- let's accept!

Letters

Dear Editor,

In answer to your contest question, "How many student senators does it take to change a tire?", there are several possibilities. These possibilities are as follows:

1.) It takes 15 student senators to change a tire because they can't conduct any business without quorum.

2.) It takes 5 student senators to change a tire providing that they have been elected to the tire-changing committee.

3.) The answer is none because everyone knows that student senators don't do any work.

4.) The student senate won't change a tire because the issue has been tabled until the next meeting.

5.) The student senate cannot touch the issue as it should be referred to the Supreme Court for a ruling on the authority of the senate to change a tire that may not want to be changed.

6.) The true answer as both you and I know is that it takes eight, providing that they have the help of the editor of the PRINT.

I sincerely hope that these answers will qualify for the grand prize that you have offered. If I do win, however, I would like to donate the two free tickets to some needy students who don't give a shit enough to show up any at any senate meetings. There are plenty of them here at UNI.

Sincerely,

Name Withheld by request

Congratulations! You win! All of at the PRINT were really surprised that someone was able to answer the contest question. We were especially surprised that you had the answer. We were flabbergasted that the letter you sent us was neatly typewritten! We were expecting a letter scrawled in orange crayon. The tickets to the next Senate meeting may be picked up at any time in the Student Senate office above the Book Nook.

A Reply

Dear Editor,

As a close observer of current events, I have become increasingly aware of the threat of global terrorism. Therefore, I was very interested in a letter to the Editor printed in the March 25 issue of the Northeastern Illinois Print.

President Reagan has recognized terrorism as a direct attack on democratic principles and had promised to combat it at all levels.

Here in Chicago, there has been a front line defense against terrorism. On May 14, 1979, a bomb planted by PLO terrorists in a crowded bus station in Tiberias, Israel, exploded on a religious holiday. The prizes of the terrorist bombing were two children killed, and thirty-seven civilians wounded, which included American tourists. One of the alleged murderers, in hopes of fleeing justice, escaped to Chicago, where his sister lives.

The self-proclaimed PLO terrorist, Ziad Abu Eain, was apprehended, and extradition hearings were immediately begun. The terrorist was defended by Ramsey Clark, the very person who went to Iran to grovel at the feet of the kidnappers of our American servicemen and diplomats. Clark's defense for his client was to justify terrorist activity as a proper political recourse. Using this defense would mean that the murdering of two innocent children and the wounding of thirty-seven civilians was justifiable.

One interesting definition of terrorism was given by one of Abu Eain's own witnesses, Professor Mallison. He defined terrorism as a criminal act. The U.S. Court in Chicago concurred with this definition.

After losing this appeal, Abu Eain appealed his case again in the Court of Appeals, and finally on February 20, 1981, the U.S. Court of Appeals in Chicago denied a third hearing. In an attempt to intimidate the American judicial system, Abu Eain went on a hunger strike which began on February 20, and ended approximately on March 2.

Now it is up to the court system of the democratic state of Israel to determine if Abu Eain is a guilty party in the Tiberias bombing.

It is gratifying to know that in the defense of the democratic principles of the United States, a court decision of great consequence has been made that will help to keep terrorists out of our country.

Book-Buying

To the Editor of the Print:

On behalf of myself and fellow students, I would like to speak out about a problem that I feel has been plaguing the University for some time now. What I'm referring to is the unfair system that Becks and Follets book stores have concerning the repurchasing of used books.

It seems that the books are usually bought back for a fraction of the original price paid for the new and used book. Consequently, these book stores are making profits again and again on the same books, at the expense of "us" the students.

What I propose is setting aside the first Friday of each trimester for students to sell and/or exchange books with other students. This can possibly be done in the Alumni Hall. This would be a great financial aid to all the students involved.

Sincerely yours,
T.A.K.

Dear Editor,

The will to survive is basic to the human species. Along with this is the need for sustenance. Assuming that Northeastern students are normal, rational human beings (if you won't assume, then just pretend) why then do they eat at the cafeteria?

The food is prepared by the Szabo food service. Even though the Szabo people are sweet and helpful most of the time, nonetheless, Szabo food has arrested a certain amount of interest wherever it is served.

Szabo food can be broken down (by the FBI chem labs) into several interesting categories. We begin with:

1. Breakfast in tasteful surroundings of blue and white concrete with brown tiles, made popular by Joes' Garage and Body Shop.

2. Not-so-Edibles - This is the BIG CATEGORY. We now enter the realm of simulated food and the secret ingredient. As in mama's old recipes where she would add a certain ingredient to everything she would cook, Szabo does this also. Sometimes subtle, sometimes not, this all purpose additive renders the food distracting, unsettling, and non-edible. There have been cases when some students double up at the mere mention of this, and it is not from laughter, only. Szabo must be lauded for a scientific breakthrough - their coffee. Not only will the coffee elixir cure baldness, it has been known to grow hair in some of the more unusual areas of the body.

3. Collectibles - These items (such as the pastries) appear on the trays and are seldom more than nibbles at. They gang together on tables and other places where people leave their refuse.

4. Lunch and dinner must be combined together as dinner is much the same as lunch, but under an assumed name.

These are much easier to write about because aside from the salad, all the remaining food falls into the BIG CATEGORY. This is where the Szabo secret ingredient really comes to the fore. Ever wonder why the majority of students are here only for the morning classes?

Szabo food is served.

Conclusion: Szabo food is best served when it is served by Szabo. Through conditioning and sublimation, students are slowly becoming Szabos. I should know, I eat there all the time.

(Name withheld by request)

Latino Students Renounce Awards

To: The Print & The U.N.I. Community

From: Ms. Carmen Perez, President, U.P.R.S.

Ms. Marta Montes, President, C.S.U.

Mr. Angelo N. Santana, Member of the Union for Puerto Rican Students.

Re: Our renunciation of Outstanding Leadership Awards.

On Thursday, March 26, 1981, a continental breakfast was held in honor of various students in recognition of their leadership roles here at U.N.I. Leadership Awards were presented to these student leaders by the University.

We, as Latino Students conscious of the systematic, overt and covert methods that this university is using to "pressure" and discourage Latinos from pursuing a meaningful education saw it to be our obligation to denounce the awards and the University for its consistent anti-Latino, anti-Student position.

We as Latinos see the importance of leadership development and recognition; we also realize, however, the fact that the true leaders of our communities do not receive awards, but find themselves to be the targets of repression, harassment and constant persecution simply for being leaders. A case in point, is the case of student leader Ms. Irma Romero, who was placed on trial for unacademic misconduct by the University and the Vice-President of Student Affairs, Dan Kielson and the Dean of Student Development, Kipp Hassell.

Ms. Romero was placed on trial for allegedly disrupting a University activity and depriving an intellectually deprived pseudo-historian of his right to freedom of speech. The activity in question was obviously staged to entrap student leaders who are leading a struggle against a historically racist History Department for the retention of the Puerto Rican Historian, Mr. Jose Lopez, and for the hiring of a full-time Chicano Historian to teach their respective peoples' history to the growing Latino population and University community in general. These instructors and courses are imperative to the realization of this University's urban mission of serving the urban community of which our people comprise a sizable portion of the population.

Our refusal of our awards is our show of solidarity with Ms. Romero and the struggle being waged by Latinos for a complete and meaningful education. We realize that leadership qualities are developed and can only be developed by our understanding our past, to give us the sense of worth and pride that is stripped from us in the public schools and institutions. Only by understanding our past can we understand our present and, hence, reach educated conclusions as to where we are going and where our leaders are going to lead us in the future.

Unfortunately, the "drop out" or push out rate of Latinos from public schools and universities is extremely high. There are many elements involved in this fact but we feel that the biggest reason is the failure of these institutions to motivate and respond sensitively to our specific needs; Schools are not only failing in educating Latinos, but they are also failing to educate white students and administrators to understand Latinos and eliminate racist stereotypes and tendencies that are born out of ignorance and mis-education.

It is equally unfortunate that the History Department of U.N.I. and other reactionary elements here wish to perpetuate these problems by denying Latinos their proposed inter-disciplinary program which would motivate Latinos to remain in school by giving them a relevant curriculum; educate non-latinos to understand our history and culture and understand us as a people better; and finally, to help U.N.I. fulfill its obligation to honestly serve the Urban community, an endeavor that this university has proven itself unable to accomplish without the motivation and leadership of concerned Latinos and other progressive elements on campus.

Sincerely, in struggle,
Carmen Perez, Union for Puerto Rican Students
Marta Montes, Chicano Student Union
Angelo Nelson Santana, U.p.r.s.

Boycott?

Editor of Print

From a Civil Service Employee

The boycott of the 'cafeteria is a good idea.' Several of my co-workers and I plan to participate. However, we would like to know why the cafeteria cannot open at a quarter to eight instead of eight o'clock. Opening fifteen minutes earlier would allow civil service employees who start work at eight and students who have an eight o'clock class to grab a quick cup of coffee and doughnut. As it is now one has to be late for either their class or work. Perhaps you can find out Szabo's side?

Liebow Comments On hearings

fessors started chanting and hooting as soon as a student started to speak at a meeting, a symposium, etc. so that he/she could not continue, you would not have very nice things to say about the professors; if a group of angry citizens marched into your Print office and started shouting and chanting so that you could not put out a paper, I am fairly certain that you wouldn't be worrying about their rights at the moment.

In sooth, I have not testified against Ms. Romero. I did not have anything to do with the charges against Ms. Romero, and a duly appointed group of students and staff presided over the hearing. It is one thing for you to report those hearings; it is another to try the case in the Print, especially with the slanted language.

Respectfully,
E.M. Liebow
Department of English

Dr. Liebow,

I will take your word for it that you were just trying to present the facts at Romero's "hearing". However, I'd like to point out that the hearing was in fact a trial. There were "Judicial Hearing Committeepersons" present, who acted as jurors. Their function was to determine what happened, and if the party was guilty, recommend a sanction. The sanction could be as harsh as expulsion from the university, or as minor as a written warning.

In our book, any process that decides guilt or innocence is a trial.

The article is definitely not slanted towards Romero. It describes what happened -- and that is all. Underneath the article, there was a box that read: "Next Issue -- An Interview with Irma Romero - Were Her Rights Violated? Did the University Ignore William's Letter. (sic) (See page 9) Watch Next Week"

The article on the front page of this issue speaks for itself.

There is a question of whether or not Romero received a fair trial, not a question of whether or not chanting violates another's right to free speech.

You also imply that Fredrick could not continue with his presentation. This is in direct conflict with the testimony of one of your colleagues.

It seems, Dr. Liebow, that it is you that deals with words like a cleaver deals with meat.

Finally, if Romero's rights were violated, it is the Northeastern Illinois Print's obligation to see to it that it does not go uncorrected.

Sincerely,
Joseph Wright

Film Series

Aperture Presents

Tonight Aperture, the student film-making club here at Northeastern is continuing its film series. Celebrate April Fools Night by spending the evening with Alan Funt of Candid Camera fame. His film What Do You Say To A Naked Lady? will be shown on Wednesday, April 1, at 7:00 in the Auditorium. Naked Lady is a peculiarly charming artifact of the Sexual Revolution. It is filmed in the celebrated Candid Camera style, even down to the immortal moment (indelibly part of the folklore of our era) when the red-faced subjects confront their beaming manipulator and stammer: "Why, you're . . . you must be . . . Allan Funt!!!"

Amongst the going-ons are a Greek-style statue suddenly asking a woman to pick up his fig leaf; a woman is asked to select dirty words from among seersucker, fugue, matriculate, and others, and of course confrontations with the Naked Lady!

Underneath all the stunts, Funt is seriously committed to his subject, and his film is a witty but pointed plea for sexual toleration.

Continue celebrating April Fools on Thursday, April 2, in the Unicorn at 12:30, with The Three Stooges Film Fest. The kings of slapstick comedy will be performing in some of their funniest films. Nothing else need be said. Stooges fans unite!

The Aperture Film Series will finish out with the famous Mel Brooks comedy, The Twelve Chairs.

A dying woman confesses separately to her son-in-law and the village priest that she sewed valuable jewels into one of the twelve dining room chairs before fleeing from a palace during the Russian Revolution.

This sets off a chase as one after another learn the secret and set out to find the chairs — and chase that stretches from the bleak coldness of Siberia, to Voro-byaninov.

This film is one of Mel Brooks best. The Twelve Chairs will be shown on Tuesday, April 7, at 12:30 in the Unicorn.

Basketball Team Ends Season

The Northeastern Illinois University basketball team finished their 1980-81 season with two losses, giving them an overall record of 11 wins and 19 losses.

On Thursday, February 26, Northeastern traveled to the University of Illinois Chicago Circle and was defeated 105 to 66. Northeastern played poorly, and during one stretch in the first half was out-scored by their opponents 19 to 2. Phil Schaefer (St. Patrick H.S.) led the Golden Eagles in scoring with 25 points, and William Hawkins (Kenwood H.S.) added 12 points.

On Saturday, February 28, Northeastern competed in the National Association of Intercollegiate Athletics District 20 playoffs. Northeastern traveled to Chicago State University and lost to that university 86 to 67. Poor shooting plagued the Golden Eagles in the first half, and Northeastern trailed Chicago State 40 to 26 at halftime. Northeastern never seriously challenged the second half as their bigger and stronger opponents totally out-played them. Phil Schaefer led Northeastern in scoring with 24 points.

Players Named All-Conference

Two Northeastern Illinois University basketball players were named to the Chicagoland Collegiate Athletic Conference All-Conference team. They are Phil Schaefer and William Hawkins. Schaefer, a junior, is a six-foot-one guard who averaged 18 points per game this season. Hawkins, a junior, is a six-foot-seven center who averaged 13 points and 8.5 rebounds a game.

Exercise Specialist Workshop

Interested individuals from throughout the Midwest will be traveling to Chicago in July to participate in the American College of Sports Medicine's Exercise Specialist Workshop and Certificate Session. The Chicago program will be co-hosted by Northeastern Illinois University and Swedish Covenant Hospital.

George R. Lesmes, Associate Professor of Northeastern's Human Performance Laboratory, said, "There is a growing need in today's job market for qualified preventative and rehabilitative exercise technologists. The purpose of the July workshop will be to provide the opportunity for those people interested in these professions to study in-depth the theories, concepts, procedures, and techniques of the exercise leader."

Due to the increasing number of exercise programs and rehabilitation centers, a great number of job opportunities exist within business and industry, hospitals, nursing homes, and educational institutions.

Dr. Noel D. Nequin, Director of Cardiac Rehabilitation at Swedish Covenant Hospital, said that "During the workshops, participants will receive extensive information on graded exercise testing techniques, physiology, pathophysiology, electrocardiography, stress testing, and nuclear medicine. A great deal of attention will be paid to the relationship between exercise and cardiac care."

Nequin added that "an outstanding faculty has been gathered for the workshop."

The workshop will be offered at Northeastern Illinois University and Swedish Covenant Hospital July 13-22. A limited number of participants will be accepted for the workshop sessions. A $400.00 enrollment fee covers the costs of all equipment and instructional aids provided during the workshop sessions.

Immediately following the workshop, the American College of Sports Medicine will offer a certification session at Northeastern Illinois University on July 23 and 24. Certification of Exercise Test Technologists by the American College of Sports Medicine is an attempt to provide a standard for those who desire to offer proof of their competency and skill in the many aspects of graded exercise testing. The American college of Sports Medicine charges an additional $75.00 fee to those individuals who wish to take the certification examination.

Nearby hotel and dormitory accommodations are available for out-of-town participants. For information on the workshop, certification session, or accommodations, please call George R. Lesmes at 312-583-4050, ext. 498, or Dr. Noel D. Nequin at 312-878-8200, ext. 5327.
