Commuter Center

University Names New Director

by Joe Wright

Donald Blundell, currently Director of the Student Union at State University College in Buffalo New York, has been named as the new Director of Northeastern's Commuter Center.

The position of Commuter Center Director has been open since December, when the Director Clifford Harrelson resigned to open a vending company in California. Since that time, the Associate Director of the Commuter Center, Mark Kipp, has been Acting Director. Kipp will remain as Acting Director until Blundell arrives April 16.

As Director of the Commuter Center, Northeastern's equivalent to a student union, Blundell will be responsible for the overall operation of the Commuter Center. His duties will include overseeing services such as vending, copy machines, and child care. Additionally he will administer the contracts for the cafeteria and the bookstore.

Blundell has almost 10 years of experience working in the student services field. He began his career as a member of the "student life staff" at Buffalo State College in 1970. Later he spent three years in military service. Not only has he served as Director of the Student Union at Buffalo, but he was also Associate and Assistant Director of Student Activities there.

Blundell holds B.S. and M.S. degrees from State University College at Buffalo.

At one point a member of the Commuter Center Director Search and Screen Committee expressed concern over "Blundell's possible lack of experience with the commuter student and weak stance on affirmative action." Blundell, who is in New York, couldn't be reached for comment. However, Dr. Daniel Kielson, Vice-President for Student Affairs, who hired Blundell, stated that he didn't "think he's (Blundell) weak in that area, or I wouldn't have hired him."

Bahai's Launch Petition Drive

This February members of the Bahai faith were on campus to collect signatures of their petition drive about the persecution of Bahai's in Iran. There, eight members (out of nine) of the world religion's National Spiritual Assembly were killed by Iranians. Bahai's are also denied entry into universities and can't receive ration coupons. Bahais are urging people to write their congressman about the situation in Iran. (Photo by Dave Doeher)

The Kellogg Scholars

Prof. to Expand Artistic Horizons

Dr. Jean Gillies is one of 12 Northeastern Illinois University faculty members to have been awarded a Kellogg Faculty Fellowship for 1982. The fellowship gives tenured faculty members the opportunity to pursue research in the areas of program and curriculum development.

Gillies is a professor of Art and her Kellogg Fellowship will allow her to refine and expand a course she is currently teaching, which is "Introduction to Art History."

Gillies is active in the field of women's rights and women's studies. She served as Coordinator of Northeastern's Women's Studies program for two years and has been a member of the executive boards of the Illinois Women's Agenda, the National Federation of Organizations for Women, Women's Caucus for Art, and Chicago Women's Studies Association.

She is the author of many articles and papers on subjects such as "Images of Women in the Visual Arts," "The Timeless Space of Edward Hopper," and "A Century of Women Artists and Social Change."

Gillies was a nominee for the Chicago Arts Award in 1978 in the category of extended critical analysis for an article entitled Secual Imagery in Chicago Art which appeared in the New Art Examiner. Most recently, she has published an article entitled "The Central Figure in Botticelli's Primavera" which appeared in the Spring-Summer 1981 Woman's Art Journal.

Gillies has served as a reviewer for National Endowment for the Humanities grant proposals since 1977. Northeastern Illinois University presented her with its Presidential Merit Award in 1977. She was also the recipient of the L. Schwartz Memorial Award in the field of Art History at Northwestern University in 1969.

Forensics Union Members at UN Debate

Sue Groszklaus and Kathy Kaporis of Northeastern's Forensics Union (Debate team) attended the Harvard National Model United Nations Debate held in Boston on February 11 to 17. Groszklaus debated in the Political and Security Council and Kaporis debated in a Special Committee on Disarmament. The UN country that they represented was (North) Yemen, and all of their arguments and points of view had to reflect a knowledge of this country's history and policies.

According to Sue Groszklaus, the debate this year was "the best Harvard has ever offered." Along with the UN debate, other schools participated in a Camp David Peace Accord which developed some very logical and workable solutions to the Middle-East situation. Also, Groszklaus and Kaporis worked on a slide show, which will show the many aspects of this type of debate. According to Kaporis, "we will be able to complete the slide show by Spring and use it for training in the Debate Lab Class as well as with the Forensics Union Speech and Debate Club."

This April the Forensics Union is attending the New York National Model UN Debates on the 6th-11th in New York City. At the printing of this article a team will already have been picked and will have begun training sessions. Last year the Forensics Union and Political Science Club joined forces in this debate and brought home a Most Distinguished Delegation Award. The Forensics Union is hoping for a repeat performance, according to club President, Sue Groszklaus.

Note: Those individuals interested in joining the Forensics Union can reach Sue Groszklaus by leaving a name and phone number in the Speech Dept., ext. 521, or stopping by the Debate Lab class which meets Mondays at 3:00 in the conference room on the 6th floor of the beehive.

Anti-Springbok Meeting

Free the Anti-Springbok 5!

Tuesday, March 2; CC217 12:00-2:00

In September, 1981, the U.S. flagrantly violated international law by issuing visas to the racist South African Rugby Team, ambassadors of the apartheid South African regime. Under the leadership of the liberation movements in Azania (South Africa), and Namibia, thousands of people around the world fought to stop the South African rugby team, the Springboks, from playing, exposing the support given the the U.S. to white settler colonialism in Africa, and demonstrating the support of millions of people worldwide for African liberation.

On September 26, at New York's Kennedy Airport, anti-imperialists demonstrated to stop the Springboks. This demonstration was viciously attacked by the police, and 5 demonstrators were beaten and charged with serious felonies. This program at UNI is part of a midwestern tour to build solidarity with the struggle to liberate Azania and to demand that the charges be dropped against the Anti-Springbok 5. We invite all faculty, students and employees to attend the program.

CCAB Delegates Attend Entertainment Convention

by Richard Vega

The Commuter Center Activities Board (CCAB) sent six delegates to attend the National Entertainment and Campus Association (NECAA) convention from February 17-21, 1982. Colleges from various parts of the United States were represented by student programmers. The schedule of the convention consisted of sessions, showcases, screenings, meetings, and the exhibit hall. Northeastern Illinois University was represented by the following students: Laura Baldassarra, Carol Gillen, Cheryl Roberts, Cesar Rolon, and Richard Vega.

Regional meetings were held at least once daily to facilitate forming blocks of dates within states or regions for particular acts. When two or more schools in the same geographic area want to book the same attraction, all can save money since the artist's expenses are also reduced. The NECAA consist of eleven regions which each has a cooperative buying coordinator to work with each school representative. Northeastern is in the Illiana region which consists of colleges in Illinois and Indiana.

The Commuter Center Activities Board also participated in the Reverse Exhibit Hall, the first one done at a National Convention. It offers school members to show their brochures, publicity, handbooks, posters, photographs, and other promotional items. The participating schools varied in size, location, affiliation, type, and budgets.

Meetings were held by the Northeastern delegation to begin the programming outline for Fall 1982 and Winter 1983. Also occurring at these particular meetings was a review of sessions, acts, and screenings which led to many lively discussions. The next phase is more meetings and the completion of budgets which takes place here on campus. Overall, the delegates learned a lot of valuable information to improve techniques in programming.

Insurance Open House Success

by Buff Rosen

On February 18, the University Insurance Services Office held an Open House for all members of the University community. The purpose of the Open House was to make the University community aware of the newly established office, its location and to acquaint students and employees with the staff. Approximately 125 people attended throughout the day, enjoying refreshments and learning about the services that the office provides.

The University Insurance Services Office was opened in October, 1981. The Student Health Insurance and Employee Benefits offices were merged to provide a centralized office to handle all insurance related services.

All academic and non-academic personnel, as well as all students are served by this office. All matters concerning student and employee benefits should be addressed to the University

Insurance Services Office.

Should you have any questions or need information about the various insurance and benefits programs, please feel free to drop in or call any time during regular office hours (Monday through Friday from 8:00 to 5:00). The office is located in the Classroom Building, rooms 0-007 and 0-008. Every effort will be made to counsel you or refer you to the proper department or agency.

UNI Students Appear on TV

Seven Northeastern students appeared as extras in the WTTW-TV (Channel 11) production of Ties, broadcast on Thursday, February 25. Not only did students participate in the program, but portions of it were filmed at Northeastern.

Written by Jeffrey Sweet, Ties is a comedy-drama about Walker Davies (played by Jack Wallace), a director who tries to repair the personal and professional disarray of his life by accepting a job as guest artist at a small midwestern college.

The Northeastern students who acted as extras in a scene set in a college bar are Bill Bashem, Laura Brownstein, Greg Czapla, Mary J. Hay, Julie Horwitz, Patrick Lee, and Pam Mis-koci.

WTTW's production of Ties features Wallace and Tim Halligan, who were both nominated for Joseph Jefferson Awards for their stage performances in the original production, and Sonja Lanzener, who won a Jeff Award for Outstanding Performance in Porch, an earlier Jeffrey Sweet play produced by Victory Gardens.

Training as a Lawyer's Assistant can give today's college graduate a valuable edge in the job market.

Entry-level positions in the Chicago area pay as much as $12,000 to $15,000—and some paralegals are now earning as much as $32,000.

It takes just three months of daytime study (six months in the evening) to prepare for a career as a Lawyer's Assistant. The program at Roosevelt University is the largest A.B.A.-approved program in Illinois, and its record of graduate employment assistance is the best there is.
